FEDERAL COURT OFFERS MEDIA ACCOUNTS

Effective immediately, individual employees of the media may apply for a read-only Electronic Case Filing (ECF) account with the federal court in Minnesota. The account will allow a reporter to search civil or criminal case docket information by case number, and will also enable them to receive e-mail notifications to their personal e-mail account when any document is filed in a case for which they have an interest.

In accordance with the Electronic Public Access Fee Schedule for the U.S. Courts, only attorneys of record have free access to documents filed on-line, so Public Access to Court Electronic Records (PACER) fees will apply at eight cents per page. The account holder must agree to notify the court if his or her employment is discontinued, so that the account may be deactivated.

For more information and registration materials, see the court's web site at www.mnd.uscourts.gov, and select the media link.
